

Fall 2024 LECTURE SERIES

Thursday 10.10.2024

4:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m.

Sponsored by Jefferson Institute for Smart & Healthy Cities

101 Bluemle Life Sciences Building,
233 S. 10th St, Jefferson Center City Campus

All lectures are free and open to the public with registration:
www.jefferson.edu/cabeevents

The Symposium will focus on the interrelationship between climate change and urbanization, solution identification through community engagement, and population health. The Symposium will be attended by academics, scientists, entrepreneurs, and leaders in architecture, engineering, population health, and city government.

The event will involve opening remarks from the Dean of the College of Architecture and Built Environment, presentations from 5 distinguished speakers and a panel discussion (4-6PM). There will be a networking reception with light refreshments from 6-7 PM.

6th International Symposium on Smart & Healthy Cities

“Mitigating Climate Change Effects in Cities”

Barbara Klinkhammer
Opening Remarks
Dean, College of Architecture and the Built Environment
Thomas Jefferson University

Rob Fleming
Director of Online Innovation
Weitzman School of Design
University of Pennsylvania

Megan Heckert
Professor
Department of Geography and Planning
West Chester University

Jessi Ray Koch
Equitable Development Project Manager
Centennial Parkside Community Development Corporation

Kimberly Washington
Executive Director
Frankford Community Development
Corporation

Nidhi Krishen
Deputy Director, Climate Solutions
Office of Sustainability
City of Philadelphia